Has Seen Much Fighting

Bomber J. H. Free, a visitor in our town. The Bomber is a member of the 40th Bat., and is the first returned man to arrive here wearing three gold stripes on the cuff of his sleeve. The stripes are indicative that the wearer has been wounded in three separate engagements. Free left this country in June 1915, and left France for England in November, 1917. He says the spirits of the troops, in France, when he left, were excellent. Talking on the food situation, he says that soldiers on leave have to be sure to obtain their sugar and ration tickets, otherwise they would encounter much difficulty in obtaining their meals during the time of their absence from active duty. You carry your sugar with you to the restaurant, but, also you have to be sure and have your meat ticket with you. Meat costs from forty-five to fifty cents a pound, each person is allowed thirty cents worth per week. Whenever a portion of meat is consumed during a meal, a part of the ticket is detached showing the amount the card owner has been given (something after the style of the watercards used by the towns). Mr. Free is an Edmonton man and is visiting friends here.

"Damaged Goods"

Should be Seen by Everyone

[By Jules L. Steele in The Winnipeg Free Press]

I say unreservedly, that every man and woman in the city of Winnipeg, irrespective of the fact that they may or may not be movie fans, should see "Damaged Goods." You all may not agree with me in this, but nowadays kids learn young and they learn quickly. It will do not an iota of harm for them to learn what "Damaged Goods" is about, but the lesson that the great film teaches.

And it is a great film. There is little doubt that you won't feel joyful or happy after you see it. You can't feel that way. "Damaged Goods" calls a spade a spade. The greatest good that the movies can accomplish is in their strong powers of suggestion. They can drive home arguments better than the preacher in the pulpit or lecturer on the platform can. After you have seen "Damaged Goods" you will never forget the scenes depicted.

Here are few of the subtitles which, quoted, will go far towards demonstrating, how wrong the picture is. Each one of them is undeniably true:

"One drink may lead to an immoral act that will ruin a young man's entire life."

"No girl is safe while the so-called double standard exists."

"For the sins that ye do by two by two, yet must answer for one by one."

"Kipling."

"The greatest scourge to society is ignorance, prudery, hypocrisy and quackery."

And in the end George Dupont, after a little baby born to his wife is found to have inherited the awful disease from its father, does the only things he can do, which however, does not atone for his crime, and which fails to eradicate the dire effects. He commits suicide.

"Damaged Goods" is certainly a great picture. Go and see it at the Grand Theatre, Empress, this Saturday, March 30. Matinee at 3 p.m. and evening at 8 o'clock.

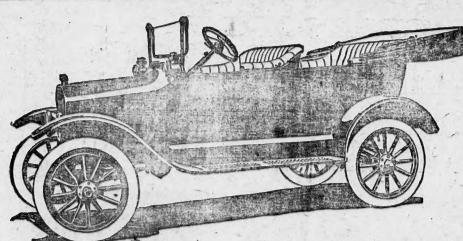

Local Manufacturing Company Formed

The provincial patent rights for the manufacture of the "Peerless Coil Oil Burner" have been secured by a company formed of local men. The apparatus, which can be seen at M. G. Boyd's hardware store, has the appearance of a good article—a household necessity. The personnel of the company will be given in a later issue of this paper.

CAUD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Simpson, wish to convey their sincere thanks to the Local Great War Veterans, the members of the local I.O.D.E., and also to their many kind friends, for their constant kindness to them in their widow and very sad bereavement, in the death of their daughter, Hazel Dean.

A Ford Car Takes the Place of all These Things

WHEN you own a Ford you can do away with many articles that are a source of continuous expense to the man who still drives a horse. For instance, not only your driving-horse and buggy, but the single harness, blankets, whips, currycombs, brushes, horse-shoes, pitchforks, feed-bins, etc.

In their place you have a speedy, dependable, dignified, roomy Ford Car. It can take the place of a carriage, a team and buggy, a team buggy that travels so slowly. And when a Ford is standing idle it does not eat three meals a day, and it requires no "looking after."

A Ford will save you time, trouble, and money. It is the utility car for the busy farmer and his family.

Test Your Seed Grains

The Department of Agriculture advises the careful testing of all kinds of seed grain in order to reduce the danger of light yields. Last year much grain that appeared plump tested very poorly and though there was not any general occurrence of frost in 1917 there may be low vitality in much of the seed grain from other causes. There is no excuse for neglecting such a fundamental precaution which can be taken with so little trouble. Seed tests may be either made at home or at official centres. They may be had from the following places: The Seed and Weed Branch, Edmonton, the Provincial University, the Provincial Agricultural Schools at Olds, Claresholm and Vermilion and the Dominion Seed Branch, Calgary. Over a hundred seeds should be sent.

Testing may be satisfactorily done at home with reasonable care. The best method of testing is in ordinary soil. A box one foot square will contain ten rows each way an inch apart giving 100 points of intersection at which to plant seeds. The soil should be about three inches deep and the seeds should be put in an inch deep. The soil should be kept moist. The temperature should be that of a kitchen or comfortable living room, i.e. between fifty and seventy degrees. Seeds can be germinated quickly between two pieces of flannel or two sheets of blotting paper in a plate. Evaporation takes place quickly and water must be added frequently to keep the seeds moist. They must not lie in water. The soil test shows better the variation in germination strength under fairly normal conditions.

A record should be kept of the numbers of plants showing in five and also in ten days and the test should be complete in twelve days. It is a good plan to make duplicate tests, for which a box one foot wide and two feet long is suitable. The same sized box may be used likewise for making comparative test of two samples or varieties.

E. R. Foster left on Thursday evening's train for Empress where he will take over the management of the George L. Brown Drug Store in that town. Mr. Foster will be greatly missed in Estuary, he having been a prominent figure in the public life of our community. He was one of the most energetic members of the Board of Trade and held the office of secretary-treasurer. He was also secretary-treasurer of the fire-brigade. His genial disposition won him many friends and we are, indeed, sorry to lose him from our midst.—Estuary Review.

NO MAN'S LAND A STRANGE PLACE NOT SHOWN ON PUBLISHED MAPS

OF ENORMOUS AREA MEASURED IN SQUARE MILES

Not the Narrow Strip of Territory of Popular Fancy, and It is a Shifting Country Which Almost all the While is Moving Gradually Towards Germany

There is a country, not far distant from London, and familiar to many who walk in its midst—a country across whose spaces the eyes of man have not yet gazed; a country of long ago at this moment—a country seldom trodden, always perhaps thronged with strange guests, come to rest and sold as the street outside your windows—no country, in fact, in memory of man, which has not been made.

It is an enormous country, it is actually a great land, and its shape is like a boot. It has a name—“No Man’s Land.” It is overlaid with a name, opened the way to general reviving of France. The whole world has been led to believe that it is a paradise, and you will search vainly for that name in the legend of the widest three syllables in history—it is No Man’s Land.

No Man’s Land stretches from Switzerland to the sea. The real harvest, according to final figures, is only about 60,000,000 feet of land in 1916 and about 10,000,000 less than was estimated in the summer of 1915. But there are also on the fronts, extremely smilng, diligently cultivated fields, which were somebody’s land, and which were then lost, miffed with the usual smallop of shells holes and dotted here and there with ruined castles.
Thus, the One World Men High in the width overhead the sea, while the other, low down in parts what is now No Man’s Land, You looked forth on the same on the fronts, and the same on the fronts.

The food situation in Switzerland is extremely serious. A new ration, far below the consumption even in the year of the war, was now being ordered. The new ration allowing only one-and-a-half pounds of sugar per month. The bread ration was, however, to be increased by a day and butter ration one-fifth of a pound per month.

Shortage is More Acute

Bread Ration in France Has to Be Reduced Again

Information received at the food controller’s office indicates that the shortage of wheat in France is becoming even more acute. A further reduction of twenty per cent. in the bread ration is to be made effective on April 1. M. Maurice Long, minister for general reviving of France. The wheat, regarded as a luxury has been entirely prohibited since January 1, and is sold as the street outside your windows—a country, in fact, in memory of man, which has not been made.

A Martyred Nurse

Italy Now Has Her Sister Edith Cavell

Italy has now her Sister Edith Cavell, a martyred nurse who had given up her life for others.

Her name was Sister Terese Marie, and she was just 21 years old. She had been in Scotland studying medicine at home as well as in London and Edinburgh.

As a consequence of the war she abandoned her studies to take up nursing, and after working under Prof. R. G. Smith in Scotland, went into Italy, her country where she continued to do her duty during the war.

She was placed on the enemy's blacklist, because she, the country then being neutral, had done a good deal of work to the counterespionage to the military and bureaucratic enemies of the Central Powers.

She was kept in a fifty internment camp for days, and at an inquiry before a military officer was treated as being a spy of the allies.

She was condemned to death, and on the case being taken up by the Italian government she was released. The Germans overran a part of Italy, the Red Cross unit to which Sister Terese was attached was subjected to severe restrictions, and she was called to account for certain alleged irregularities, only exonerated.

Earlier in the fight a Scotish battalion had been captured by the Germans by the self-sacrifice of the men. After the final scene of heroism the enemy had accused her of hiding in the building vital parts of the destroyed building and arrested the nurses.

In the building at the time was a priest, Count Czernin, who had been held by the Germans as a prisoner of war.

She had planned for his life, but no notice was taken and the threats of death were not carried out.

In despair the brave girl allowed the Scot to escape during the night, and then went to the front.

The Germans were furious to find their prey had escaped them, and sent a party of soldiers to the village to recognize the Red Cross flag flying over the hospital, and to shoot her. She had planned for his life, but no notice was taken and the threats
of death were not carried out.

In despair the brave girl allowed the Scot to escape during the night,

and then went to the front.

One of the wards was almost entirely destroyed, and patients were lying among the wreckage all peril of death.

The brave nurse went among the patients to find their prey had escaped them, and then went to the front.

She had assisted in removing most of the dead, and the bodies were shoved full in the ward, and Sister Terese was buried among the ruins.

She was as much a martyr as though the Germans had put her up on a cross, and she died in the shock Miss Cavell, who had been shot, was buried in the same grave.

The German honor, and the firing party was provided by Scottish soldiers of the British army, who had been recognized as the nurse to aid them under fire.

Are Pigs Cause of the War

Would See That This Animal Will Play a Part in Ending It

An ingenious philosophical historian, seeking cause and effect in the present cataclysm, has traced its origin to the pig-raising country. It has been almost entirely upon the export of this product. Unfortunately the export of the product has been to the outside world only by way of Austria, which had the unpleasant habit of sending its swine to the rest of Europe.

The Austro-German “militarist” aspirations dropped on the hounds, as of course the German hounds.

Rumor was current in town Saturday last that a charge of $2 per head was being made on farmers wishing to be ferried across the inundated flat to the bridge. This charge was denied by Mr. W. An enquiry being made when the boat was loaded elicited the reply that passage across would cost $5. But this sum was named in jest, and there was no intention to take any more persons into the boat.
